SALLYE AND I. We set wherethe moon was beaming— Sallie and I! The "wide world" around us was drawning All allertly.

All well do I yet recombar.

The evening was one of September.

And we said that we both would remember.

Saille and I.

We said we would both remember—
. Sellie and I—
That beautiful eve of September,
As the year rolled by.
Around us were sweet fail flowers;
The mountight fell on us in showers.
And we counted not then the swift nours—
Sallie and I.

Oh, then we were blest and cheerful—
Sallie and I;
And neither was doubtful nor fearful—
Lave cannot die
And there, while the moon was beaming.
And stars were like glory-bits gleaming.
Of a fisture all bright we were dreaming—
Sallie and I.

And siars in the howevers are gleaming.
Frest.
I remember that we were but dreaming—
Sallie and I.

Abl do we not both remember—
Salije and I;
That sweet moralight eve of September
Has long passed by.
I now sit alone, and ponder,
Our pathways he so far asunder,
We would each meet the other with wonder—

which neutralizes this malaricous poison in the blood, and stimulates the liver to expel it from the body. As it should, so it sloves care this affilictive disorder with perfect certainty. And it does more, or rather does what is of more service to those subject to this infection. If taken in season it expels it from the system as it is absorbed, and thus keeps those who use it free from its attacks; keeps the system in health although exposed to the disease. Consequently it not only cures, but protects from the great variety of affections which are induced by this malignant inflatence, such as Remittent Fever, Chill Sever, Dumb, or Masked Arue, Periodical Headache, or Billoms Headache, Billoms Fevers, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Illindous, Toothache, Earache, Catarth, Asthma, Palpitations, Palariai Affections of the Spomach and Howels, all of which, when arising from this cause, will be found to assume more or less the intermitient type. This "Agus Cure" removes the cause of these derangements, and cures the disease. This is accomplishes by stimulating the excentions to expel the virus from the system; and these organs by degrees become habited to do this their office of their own accord. Hence arises what we term accimation. Time may accomplish the same end, but often life is not long enough, or is merrificed in the attempt, while this "Agus Cure" does it at once, and with safety. We have great reason to believe this is a surer as well as agir remedy for the whole class of diseases, which are caused by the miasmatic infection, than any other which has been discovered; and it has still another important advantage to the public, which is, that it is cheap as well as good.
